About The Author

Theresa C. Givans spent four thoroughly enjoyable years in the beautiful city of Montreal doing what she loved - reading books and writing papers - for which McGill University awarded her a BA in English.

Her foray into poetry writing was inspired by the realization that her children's bookshelves were filled with British nursery rhymes but sorely lacking in Jamaican children's poetry. So, she decided to remedy that situation by creating her own.

Keddán Savage is a fine artist and graphic designer working in oils, acrylics, sculpture and other media. He has developed artwork for several children's books, designed company logos and cover art for musicians. He finds creating art a rewarding experience no matter what medium he is working in.
