What's Inside

Playtime is adventure time with A Pig in a Parachute. The story brings quirky, colourful, and furry animals like silver snakes and lavender lions, twirling, flying and careening from the pages. Kids learn new words while exploring dreams and being imaginative in their approach to life.

A Pig in a Parachute is a picture book full of movement and life that is sure to delight and spark young readers' imaginations. It is a great introduction to colours, animals and wordplay through awesome alliterations.

About the Author

Rebecca Tortello is a mother, educator, child advocate and author. She loves history and one of her favourite experiences was when she participated in an archaeological dig on the Spanish island of Mallorca. She and her husband share their home with their son, Rhys, and their daughter, Maria, two cats, a dog and a lifetime collection of books of all kinds.

About the Illustrator

Michael Robinson is a Creative Director who wears many caps. A formally trained sculptor, he is also an award-winning writer and illustrator. As an illustrator, he has numerous titles under his belt. He considers himself an "imagesmith", for whom design is always fulfilling, whether the tool at hand is a chisel, a pencil or a keyboard.
